Offshore wind power and green hydrogen projects in Vietnam may soon benefit from unprecedented incentives, including fee exemptions, guaranteed electricity volumes, and flexible investment terms, as proposed in a new draft policy.

Offshore wind power and green hydrogen projects in Vietnam may soon benefit from unprecedented incentives, including fee exemptions, guaranteed electricity volumes, and flexible investment terms, as proposed in a new draft policy.

The Vietnamese Government has introduced a new electricity decree, as an extension of the country's 2024 "New Electricity Law", to accelerate the development of renewable energy projects in Vietnam, offering fee exemptions and prioritising wind and solar power expansion. The decree focuses on.

To accelerate the development of the renewable energy industry, the Vietnamese government has introduced a new electricity decree, prioritizing the promotion of power generation projects using renewable energy sources such as solar and wind power, as well as energy storage systems. Additionally.

Decision 13, which will take effect on May 22, 2020, introduces a number of new incentives and mechanisms for investors in solar power projects in Vietnam. New Feed-in Tariff One of the most notable features provided by Decision 13 is the extension of the feed-in tariff (FIT) for solar projects.

Vietnam's solar power sector is governed by a number of key regulations and policies aimed at promoting the development of renewable energy while managing the challenges associated with rapid growth. The FiT program has been a major driver of solar power development in Vietnam, offering a tariff of.
