Can solar panels power a home?

Solar panels are used to power everything from calculators to sports stadiums to satellites — and they can just as easily be used to power a home. You don't need to be a rocket scientist – or anything close to it – to get solar panels for your home.

Why should I get solar panels for my home?

There are a handful of reasons to get solar panels for your home, but the biggest one is energy cost savings. Home solar is simply much cheaper than paying for grid electricity, and can lead to tens – sometimes hundreds – of thousands in savings over the warranty period of the panels.

Do solar panels increase home value?

Speaking of putting wasted space to good use, installing solar panels also raises your home value. Studies by Zillow and the Berkeley Lab both found that homes with solar panels sell for more money than comparable homes without them. Better yet, over 30 states have property tax exemptions for the value that solar adds to the home.

How do solar panels work?

When sunlight hits the panels, it creates an electric current that is first used to power electrical systems in your home. If your panels are producing more electricity than your home is using, the excess is stored in a battery and/or pushed onto the local energy grid to power your neighbors' homes.

Are home solar systems expensive?

Home solar systems have an outdated reputation for being an expensive luxury item that only wealthy homeowners can afford. However, the cost of solar has plummeted in the last several decades and there are state and federal incentives that make it accessible to many homeowners. According to the Solar Energy Industry Association:
