What types of warranties cover solar panels?

There are two basic types of warranties that cover solar panels. A product warranty protects you from defects in a solar panel stemming from material quality or manufacturing errors. This is also referred to as an equipment or materials warranty.

What warranties does a solar system have?

Today, most home solar energy systems include three primary coverages: product warranties, performance guarantees, and installation warranties. 1. Product warranties A solar product warranty covers the physical components of your system, such as the panels, inverters, or batteries.

Are solar panel warranties worth it?

Overall, panel warranties are helpful for saving money on repairs, replacements and energy bills, and they improve the value of your solar energy system overall. The peace of mind you get knowing your multi-thousand dollar renewable energy system is protected is also priceless. What Do Solar Panel Warranties Cover?

Do solar panels have a 25-year warranty?

We at the Marketwatch Guides Team recommend solar panels with a 25-year product warranty, since there are now several brands who offer this benefit. Power warranties are also known as performance warranties, and they are offered with renewable energy equipment such as solar panels and wind turbines.

What is a solar product warranty?

Critically, solar product warranties cover manufacturing defects rather than any issues that arise during or after your installation. For a product warranty to remain valid, a certified solar professional may need to handle, install, and maintain your solar panels, inverters, or batteries. 2. Performance warranties.

How do I get a solar panel warranty?

Generally, the most robust warranties are obtained by hiring installation companies certified by the solar brands they represent. Alternatively, long warranties can also be secured from solar manufacturers that provide their own installation services. What Is Not Covered by a Solar Panel Warranty?
