Overview

Are solar lights a good option for outdoor space?

One great way to illuminate your outdoor space is with solar lights. Sarah Jameson, marketing director of Green Building Elements, says, "Solar lights, compared to low voltage and line voltage outdoor lights, are safer and more DIY-friendly since there's little to no wiring required at all."

How do I choose the best outdoor solar lights?

Some are staked into the ground, while others are mounted or hung on the side of your home. Determine what you need to be illuminated and where you have space to install outdoor lights to find the best outdoor solar lights for your space.

What are the different types of outdoor solar lights?

Based on their light output, outdoor solar lights fall into three general types: motion-activated, dusk-to-dawn, and timer-controlled. Because of solar cell size and battery capacity, the solar energy gathered is a limited resource, so consider when you want the lights to shine and for how long.

Are outdoor solar lights worth it?

From a dark path leading to your front door to some much-needed illumination in your backyard, outdoor light is key. But dealing with odd batteries or pesky outdoor wires is not. That's why the best outdoor solar lights can help shine a light on the situation.

Why do homeowners choose outdoor solar lights?

Another reason why homeowners choose outdoor solar lights is to reduce energy use. Multiple outdoor string lights and landscape lighting can draw more power than you realize, so off-the-grid lights can offer energy savings. Check out these popular outdoor solar lights that are easy to install and will look great in your yard.

Where should solar outdoor lights be placed?

Strategically placing solar outdoor wall lights near dark windows and gates offers added safety. These motion-activated solar security lights feature a 1,000-lumen flood light and can be set to remain on all night or function only when they sense motion. Go green with these outdoor solar light ideas.
